

5 Senses

Dec 1-4

Dear Parents, I'm sending a few youtube videos. I do view everything before I send it home however I can't control any ads that might pop up.

I tried to give you a mix of things you can do at home such as on the computer or you can print pages out. Please let me know if you would like to do the coloring pages but don't have a printer. You can pick things up at school. All of these activities are voluntary. I tried to not give to many art activities.

HEAR and TOUCH

Activities-

- What do you hear with? Walk around inside your house, do you hear anything? Walk outside, what do you hear? Talk about what you hear outside vs. inside. Draw a picture of things you hear.
- What do you touch with? (hands, feet, other body part?) What things can you touch in your house? What things can you touch outside your house? What do things feel like, smooth, rough, bumpy, sharp, soft, hard and so on?
- How many different things can you feel in your bedroom? For example, soft stuffed animals, hard bed frame, soft bed, hard floor or soft carpet, hard dresser. Make a chart of soft things and hard things. Which do you have more of? Count them.
- Practicing letters in your name- If you have liquid glue you can write the letters in your name and trace over it with liquid glue. Write each letter on a separate piece of paper. After it dries you can play a letter guessing game by feeling the letter. Can you guess what the letter is? You can also do this with shapes. The letter guessing game will be hard for a lot of kids but some will get it. You can also shake salt, flour, or sand on the glue so you can feel different textures.
- If you have plastic eggs or little Tupperware containers. You can play a listening matching game. First find different things around your house that make noise such as beans, rice, mulch, beads or jewelry, dried pasta, small plastic toys. Put the same thing in 2 Tupperware containers or eggs and then mix them up. See if your child can listen and find the match.

- Smelling game, put different smells on cotton balls. If you have oils those would work great. You can put different spices, vinegar, soaps, perfumes, lemon juice, lime juice or orange juice on the cotton balls. You can make it a matching game. Put the smelling things on 2 cotton balls and mix up the cotton balls. Can you find the match by smelling it?
- Practice drawing a triangle- Parents can put 3 dots on paper and the kids can practice connecting the dots. Parents can draw a triangle with yellow marker. You can print out the triangle page I attached to this email.

Thursday

Zoom at 9:00- Breakfast with Mrs. Pollard, I will have my tea and be ready to talk and share. Please bring a stuffed animal or favorite character to share.

Touch and Taste

Activities

Sesame Street: Abby Cadabby teaches Josh Gad about Texture

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CdA4EcEkzzg>

- Texture box- use any box around your house, tissue box, Amazon box, shoe box. Parents or siblings can find things from around your house and put in the box. Close your eyes or close the lid so only your hand can get inside, feel around, what can you feel?
- Play with Mr. Potato Head or any toys with a face. Make up a game or play activity with the toys.
- Play any board game at home. Practice taking turns and waiting your turn.
- Have a taste test. Find things that are sour, sweet, and bitter. Taste something new, do you like it?
- Make a graph of all the different things you ate. How many did you like? How many did you not like? Which group had more? Attached is a graph you can use or you can make your own.
- Do the coloring pages attached to this email.
